

Eatpure accepts that it is our responsibility to produce food hygienically and in a way which is caring to our staff, our local community and to the environment.

We believe that being environmentally responsible is not only sensible for our planet, but that it can also deliver real benefits to our business and to our Customers. Adopting sound environmental policies and practices has led to better environmental performance at Eatpure, across our Eatlunch business buffets activities and also within our café and vending environments.

Our environmental policy areas have been established through consultation as well as reviewing our environmental impacts, but at all times remain flexible enough to reflect changes that happen within the 'continuous improvement' culture that we encourage and strive to achieve.

To achieve this commitment, Eatpure gives particular focus to the following areas:

- Reducing the use of natural resources such as water, relative to our sales.
- Reducing our energy consumption performance.
- Eliminating all unnecessary food waste, by better management of our supply chain, with quality, like-minded suppliers.
- Minimising packaging waste and wherever it is needed, ensuring that it is sourced from sustainable sources and is recyclable wherever possible.
- Reducing 'Plastic Bottled Water' usage by promoting and encouraging our Customers to use our reusable glass bottle system.
- Minimising unnecessary mileage and energy use, simply to pick-up and wash crockery or re-usable packaging.
- Reducing the impact of our business on its surroundings and where possible, improving these.
- Providing effective waste management, encouraging waste reduction, recycling and where possible, separating, recycling and composting waste.

We are currently formalising an Environmental Management System framework within which, we can monitor and measure our environmental achievements and use to encourage continual improvement. Within this framework we will:

- Comply with all relevant environmental legislation.
- Review all our activities and identify those that have the greatest environmental impact.
- Maximise beneficial environmental impact through the provision of our services and implementation of our policies.
- Action effective and meaningful monitoring, focussed on delivering continuous improvement.
- Reduce our environmental impact and strive to prevent or eliminate pollution and waste.
- Properly manage the environmental impacts of any unforeseen occurrences and accidents
- Train and motivate our staff, and strive to positively influence Customers and suppliers to participate positively in environmental best practice.

Eatpure is committed to providing catering solutions which, not only deliver great taste and value, but which are also socially responsible and ecologically sustainable. This commitment is taken into account at all stages of our food preparation, distribution, administrative and point-of-sale processes.
